RUPERT SIMMS.

PREFACE.

"And as I cannot think any place wholly unworthy of notice that affords a habitation to a man of letters, I have collected the history and antiquities of the several garrets in which I have resided.

"How small to others, but how great to me.

"Many of these narratives my industry has been able to extend to a considerable length; but the woman with whom I now lodge has lived only eighteen months in the house, and can give no account of its ancient revolutions; the plasterer having, at her entrance, obliterated, by his white-wash, all the smoky memorials which former tenants had left upon the ceiling, and perhaps drawn the veil of oblivion over politicians, philosophers, and poets."

Rambler, Oct. 1st, 1751.

"Hear, and be just."—JOHNSON.

"Who dares think one thing, and another tell,
My heart detests him as the gates of hell."—POPE.

It being customary for authors, and compilers, to introduce their works to the world of readers by a few words giving an account of the Origin, Object, and Accomplishment of the undertaking, the Compiler of the "Bibliotheca Staffordiensis" begs that he may be permitted to avail himself of such custom.

He is encouraged to do this also, because—(1) of the peculiar circumstances which are associated with the work, and (2) in the hope that, having laid before his readers those circumstances, any imperfections which may be noticed, either as to completeness or corrections, may be looked upon with a generous eye, and not treated with that severity which oftentimes befalls the lot of the compiler or writer of Books.

The work originated in a want brought home to the Compiler very early in his career as a Second-hand Bookseller. On his entering that business, his mind was soon impressed by the fact that no Work existed which pretended to give a complete, or indeed incomplete, account of Works written by natives, residents, or others connected with, or of books, &c., relating to, the County of Stafford, of which he has the honour to be a native; not only so, but the sources from which information might be obtainable to help one desirous to know something of the history of the County, or of those "long gone before" connected with the County, were unknown.

Again, it was well known that many portraits of individuals, and prints or engravings of parts of the County had been painted and engraved, yet none knew how many, or of whom, or what, they were, or where to find them.

In the course of his avocation as a bookseller, he now and then came across a book, tract, sermon, or other printed article, printed or published in one or other of the towns of Staffordshire, and the idea occurred to him that it would be interesting to know how many such things there were, for on the title-pages of the publications are sometimes found data and facts not to be found anywhere else—of those things no record was extant.

In addition to the above, he found there were numerous references to persons connected with, and places in, Staffordshire which, if they could be collected together, would form an interesting and valuable addition to our sources of information relative to the "iron-bound County."

To supply these deficiencies, to provide these helps, to enable all desirous to know something of their natal spot, was the origin, and is the object of the Work now issued to the Subscribers; and how far the Compiler has succeeded in this object he must leave to the judgment of his readers.

The peculiar circumstances referred to above are briefly as follows:—

- (1) This book has been wholly written without the use of hands.
- (2) It is the first work in literary history actually so written.
- (3) And, therefore, in that sense, it is unique.

By an accident, when nearly nine years old, the Compiler lost his right hand and his left arm and hand. This was in November, 1862. And as it may interest his Subscribers to know how he has been enabled to write this Work he gives the following particulars:—

In April, 1863, his parents—a brickmaker and his wife—removed to Silverdale, in North Staffordshire, and it was whilst at School there that the discovery was made by which such writing is done.

For the sake of appearance it was customary for him to wear on his right arm a purse-like leathern case, and the first he wore was indeed “an old leathern purse.” In course of time the right-hand corner of the bottom of the purse wore into a hole, and having inserted a slate pencil he found he was able to write. On making this known to his schoolmaster (Mr. Smithyman), he was encouraged to persevere, and became, by continued practice, able to write fairly well.

The above is briefly the means by which this Work, and the endless correspondence connected therewith, have been accomplished, and the Compiler hopes his readers will not think him egotistical in outlining the method.

Handicapped by such misfortune—unable thereby to do any manual labour—he began life at the age of sixteen years as a tea hawker, a pursuit he followed for some years, eventually becoming a Second-hand Bookseller. It was, as before said, after his entry into the latter business that he began to collect materials for a Bibliography of Staffordshire, and for eleven years, “in fair weather and in foul,” he has continued to do so, until at last he is able to issue the Work to his Subscribers.

Under the headline of “Simms (Rupert),” he has pointed out some of the features of interest in the progress of the Work which it is not necessary to repeat here, but to which he respectfully directs the attention of his readers. Supplementary thereto he desires to add that he has drawn, by the kindness of a few Subscribers and his Printer, a total sum of £180, which, divided over the eleven years, gives an average of nearly seven shillings per week, and that this is all he has received from any source—with exceptions given below—towards the heavy expenses incurred in connection with the collecting of information, correcting proofs, and so forth. Some idea of this expense may be gathered from the fact that the correspondence alone has amounted, in one year at any rate, to over 2,000 communications: of every “proof,” copies have been distributed to the subjects of the several articles, if living and to be got at; to the nearest relative, if deceased—or descendants, whenever such could be found; and, as to the whole work, complete copies of “proofs” have been sent to, and overlooked by, six at least, sometimes nine, gentlemen, who have examined the “galleys,” and honoured the Compiler by giving the work the benefit of their revision. Every care has been taken to obtain correct information, and to discover misprints during the progress of the Work; and in this connection the Compiler desires to acknowledge his obligation for the valuable services rendered by Mr. EDWARD WISEMAN, the foreman printer for Mr. A. C. LOMAX, for the keen eye he has ever kept upon the Work whilst going through the press: many misprints, which would most probably have otherwise been overlooked, have been discovered and corrected by him.

The Work has been written wholly at least three, and as to the bulk of it as many as six, times over; and thousands of volumes have been collated to provide material and correct information. Probably a greater confidence in the absolute reliability of the Work would be felt had the Compiler been acquainted with the Latin tongue, as very many items are in that language; but this deficiency has been made up by several gentlemen, well able, giving their special attention to this department, and he begs to say that the Latin, in every instance, is, he believes (even when in itself erroneous), a correct collation of titles, where such have been obtainable, or from catalogues, which may account for some mistakes.

The labour would have been considerably lessened if those to whom application had been made for personal and literary details had obliged with correct particulars on such first application; by this neglect the labour has been increased at least three-fold. Take one or two cases:—No. 1 received form of questions, which he filled up and returned to sender, who copied it as sent, and it was printed off. In accordance with his custom a “proof” is sent to No. 1, who corrects it so much that the whole of the paragraph has to be re-set, and great and needless loss is incurred. No. 2 is written to, when the Compiler receives a reply couched in the following terms:—“Mr. B. begs to inform Mr. S. that he cannot spare time to fill in particulars, and begs to return Mr. S. the papers sent.” The best and most correct information obtainable is collected and printed off as before, and sent in “proof” to this gentleman, who returns it with: “Mr. B. begs to return Mr. S. the “proof” sent, and which he has corrected.” In this case the paragraph is re-set.

During the progress of the Work the average expense of postage has been about seven shillings per week—some weeks as much as thirty; and on an average the Compiler has received replies from about one-fourth of those to whom communications have been sent.

The Work is not free from errors; it is not complete or perfect, either as to text or particulars. Names are omitted which ought to have been entered, and facts and dates are wanting, which, had they been included would have added to the value of the Work. These errors and omissions are the result of want of information, and not intentional. The Work is as perfect and as correct as one man can make it by hard work and continued application. Such have been the difficulties, both personal and relative, that only a person intensely in love with the work, and determined to see the book through at all hazards, could have carried out the project. Bibliography for pleasure and in kid gloves would have given up long ago.

The Compiler repeats that the Work is as perfect and correct as a man in the lower walks of life, having to scramble and fight for the necessities of life—having oftentimes to continue the labour whilst his mind was racked with anxiety as to whence the next needs of a large family were to come from—sometimes hampered and even obliged to delay the work because he could not find the money to pay the postage—having more than once been on the verge of being turned out of house and home—could make it.

The Compiler has had no advantages but such as are given to every one alike, whether rich or poor, with the exception of donations from two gentlemen (ARTHUR UNDERHILL, Esq., LL.D., Barrister-at-Law, who made him a free gift of 21/- in addition to ordering a copy of the Work; and Dr. MALET, of Wolverhampton, who sent him 5/-) and one clergyman (The Rev. W. M. H. STRETTON, who sent him 2/6 to cover postage); he has not received one penny except in payment for copies of the work, and a weekly allowance by his Printer during this year. The funds, therefore, to pay postage and other expenses have—beyond what is here acknowledged—come altogether out of the hard earnings of himself, and frequent hard pinchings of self and family. In mentioning this, the Compiler does not wish to glorify himself, or to discount the many kind words of encouragement he has received; no, certainly not; he only desires to mention these facts to point out the billows through which the book has come to land, so that if any are disposed to criticise they may bear in mind these facts and give due consideration thereto.

He does not on the other hand desire that his readers should unduly favour him in their judgments as to the merits of the Work, but only that they may look upon it rather as a pioneer Work; not perfect, but as complete as it has been possible to render it; and in the hope that they may, whenever they come across new matter, oblige the Compiler by bringing it under his notice.

The contract with his Printer was for 500 pages only; the accumulation of material has exceeded this number already, and he is therefore precluded from adding some information which during the progress of the Work has fallen into his hands, and which he proposed to put into an appendix. For some time he hesitated whether or not to make an appeal to his Subscribers and others to enable him to reprint the whole Work, and add in right order the additional material to hand; but on enquiry he found that the expense would be such that, without the very generous help and assistance of a large number of Patrons it would not be possible to carry this out, therefore it was waived. Another reason why he did not wish to delay it, for it had already been long enough expected, and as “hope deferred maketh the heart sick,” so it may be that to defer the issue would not be the wisest thing to do, and hence the work is issued to the Subscribers with all its imperfections and shortcomings, to be dealt with as the hearts and consciences of his fellow-countrymen may decide.

The Compiler begs to acknowledge his indebtedness to the Rev. C. B. BOULTER, of Malvern, J. SLEIGH, Esq. (the historian of Leek), and the Rev. W. BERESFORD, of Leek, who were the first to help by their kind advice and loan of material.

To the Rev. W. G. D. FLETCHER, M.A., of Shrewsbury; C. W. SUTTON, Esq., Chief Librarian of Manchester; J. ELLIOT, Esq., of Wolverhampton; SAM: TIMMINS, Esq., of Arley, near Coventry; and W. S. BROUGH, Esq., of Leek; who, from the commencement of the printing of the work, have kindly corrected proofs and contributed much additional information.

To W. G. FLOOD, Esq., of Colton; KINETON PARKES, Esq., of Leek; and J. BRADLEY, Esq., M.A., of Stafford; who have been helpful in a similar manner, though not from the beginning thereof.

To S. P. EAGLETON, Esq., LL.D., of Wolverhampton, for his great kindness in obtaining a large number of Subscribers, and willingness to help still further if necessary.

To Dr. PARKINSON, of Oscott College; the Rev. J. CASWELL, of Princethorpe Priory, Rugby; and the late MOTHER PRIORESS of Stone Convent; for much help in the articles belonging to the Bibliography of Catholics.

To G. T. LAWLEY, Esq., of Bilston; F. W. HACKWOOD, Esq., of Wednesbury; W. McILWRAITH, Esq., of Wolverhampton; M. H. MILLER, Esq., of Leek; and Colonel THORNEYCROFT, of Tettenhall Towers; for much kindly assistance.

To Mr. GEORGE SMITH OF COALVILLE, the well-known advocate of the brickyard and gypsy children, whose personal sympathy, kindly encouragement, and Christian counsel have been as light in the darkness, many times when it seemed that one must give up in utter despair.

To his Printer, Mr. A. C. LOMAX, of Lichfield, for having undertaken the work without any payment in advance, and who all through has been kind, considerate, and helpful.

To his PATRONS, for the use of their very influential and honoured names; lent to a perfect stranger, an unknown man, for a new venture.

And last, though not least, to the best woman in the world, HIS WIFE, who has been helpful at all times, buoying up his spirits in the darkest hours, and cheerfully agreeing to forego pleasure, comfort, and the necessities of life, so that the Work might be carried out.

With the exception of one article, the Compiler is responsible for the contents of the whole Work, and, without further trespassing upon the forbearance of those of his readers who may read this Preface, he will conclude—applying the greater to the lesser—with a quotation from the Preface to Dr. Johnson’s English Dictionary (Second Quarto Edition):—

“Nought from my birth, or ancestors I claim;
All is my own, my honour and my shame.”—JOHNSON.

“It is the fate of those who toil at the lower employments of life, ... to be exposed to censure without hope of praise; to be disgraced by miscarriage, or punished for neglect, when success would have been without applause, and diligence without reward. Among those unhappy mortals is the writer of dictionaries; Every author may aspire to praise; the lexicographer (bibliographer) can only hope to escape reproach, and even this negative recompence has been granted to very few.

“The chief glory of every people arises from its authors much of my life has always been spent in provision for the day that was passing over me; but I shall not think my employment useless or ignoble, if by my assistance foreign nations, and distant ages, gain access to the propagators of Knowledge.

“When I am animated by this wish, I look with pleasure on my book, however defective, and deliver it to the world with the spirit of a man that has endeavoured to do well a few wild blunders, and risible absurdities, from which no work of such multiplicity was ever free, may for a time furnish folly with laughter, and harden ignorance in contempt; but useful diligence will at last prevail, and there never can be wanting some who distinguish desert;

“In this work, when it shall be found that much is omitted, let it not be forgotten that much likewise is performed; and though no book was ever spared out of tenderness to the author, and the world is little solicitous to know whence proceeded the faults of that which it condemns; yet it may gratify curiosity to inform it that this book was written with little assistance of the learned, and patronage of the great; not in the soft obscurities of retirement, or under the shelter of academick bowers, but amidst inconvenience and distraction, in sickness and in sorrow.”

[The italics in the above are the Compiler’s.]

And now, with thanks to all to whom thanks are due, with apologies for all the inconvenience and annoyance he has caused, and with thanks to that Almighty Being in Whose hands are all the ends of the earth, for having preserved him in health of mind and body, the Compiler bids farewell for the present to his subscribers, his critics, his friends, and his enemies (if such he has), and begs to subscribe himself

Their obedient Servant,

RUPERT SIMMS.

The Happy Future State of England, or, a discourse by way of Letter to the late Earl of Anglesey, vindicating him from the Reflections of an Affidavit. Published by the House of Commons, 1680, by occasion whereof Observations are made concerning Infamous Witnesses; the said Discourse likewise contains various Political Remarks and Calculations referring to many Parts of Christendom; with Observations of the Number of the People of England, and of its Growth in Populousness and Trade. The Vanity of the late Fears and Jealousies being shown, the Author doth on grounds of Nature Predict the Happy future State of the Realm. At the End of the Discourse, there is a Casuistical Discussion of the Obligation to the King, his Heirs and Successors, wherein many of the Moral Offices of Absolute and Unconditional Loyalty are Asserted. Before the Discourse is A large Preface, giving an Account of the whole Work, with an Index of the Principal Matters; Also The Obligation resulting from the Oath of Supremacy to Assist and Defend the Preheminence or Prerogative of the Dispensative Power Belonging to the King, his Heirs and Successors. In the Asserting of that Power, various Historical Passages occurring in the Usurpation after the year 1641, are mentioned; and an Account is given of the Progress of the Power of Dispensing, as to Acts of Parliament about Religion since the Reformation and of diverse Judgments of Parliaments, declaring their approbation of the Exercise of such Power and particularly in what concerns Punishment by Disability or Incapacity. The Poetical Works of C. B. Ash, of Adbaston. In Two Volumes. Vol. I.

Perchance the tenor of my mourning verse
May leade some pilgrim to my tomblesse grave,
Where neither marble monument, nor hearse
The passenger's attentive view may crave;
Such honours now the meanest persons have,
But well is me, where ere my ashes lie,
If one teare drop from some religious eie.

The Hermit of Hawkstone: A Descriptive Poem. By Charles Ash, Author of "Adbaston," "The Heath Girl," &c., &c.

Long as the soil on Vimiera's plain,
And long as Talamasca shall remain;
Till fam'd Molino is at last forgot,
And not a stone shall mark the desert spot
Where Almarez in former ages stood
All crimson'd o'er with haughty Gallic blood,
So long, emblazoned on the height of fame,
Shall brightly last the gallant Hero's name.

CHALKHILL, John. (For a long time it was not decided whether this was a real person or not. Very many—amongst others Mr. S. W. Singer, in 1820—advanced the theory that Walton was writer as well as editor of "Thealma"; this was repeated by another writer in the Retrospective Review, but it is now presumed he is identical with a Ion Chalkhill, Coroner for Middlesex towards the close of Elizabeth's reign. Those who are interested in the matter will find much to interest and engage their attention in the references given below.)

CHANCE Bros. & Co., Spon Lane, Smethwick.

About 1830, Robert Lucas Chance and his brother, William Chance, both of Birmingham, purchased a small crown window-glass manufactory in Spon Lane, Smethwick, working one furnace and employing 100 workpeople; Mr. Hartley, of Nailsea, near Bristol, joined them, during whose partnership (1830—40) the manufacture of sheet or window glass was established. Partnership dissolved in 1840. The firm have held numerous patents for the manufacture of patent plate, patent rolled rough plate-glass for roofing, optical glass, coloured glass, &c., &c. They supplied the glass used in the erection of conservatory at Chatsworth, the Exhibition building in Hyde Park, 1851, the Crystal Palace, &c. The firm established chemical works, at Oldbury, Worcs., about 1840—42, known since 1891 as the Oldbury Alkali Co., Limited. During its existence, the following have been partners in the firm:—Robert Lucas Chance (d. 1865) and his sons, Robert Lucas Chance and John Homer Chance; and William Chance (d. 1855) and his sons, James Timmins Chance, Edward Chance (d. 1881), and Henry Chance. On the 1st Jan., 1889, the business was converted into a Limited Co., whose members are:—Robert Lucas Chance and his son (Arthur Lucas Chance), J. H. Chance, Henry Chance, George Ferguson Chance, and James Frederick Chance (sons of James Timmins Chance), Edward Chance (son of Edward Chance, deceased), and Kenneth Alan Macaulay (nephew of J. T. Chance).

The literature of the firm is found in Catalogues, most elaborately got up, giving full particulars as to their various manufactures, mostly in 4to. Its various partners, past and present, who have contributed to literature are as follows:—

Some Loose Leaves from my Portfolio . . . London: Saunders & Otley. 1842. 8vo., Frontis.—Vignette; title. Prefatory Stanzas signed "George Cooper Newcastle-under-Lyme, Feb. 8th, 1842." Contains pp. vi. Poems, 1—352. Plates by Greatbach and Hammersley.

[Very nicely printed, evidently regardless of expense; now rare.]

The Bells of Newcastle-under-Lyme. [No Title. Printed at his private press, in black ink. The Compiler has a presentation copy (it seems only a few copies were struck off for presents) to Joseph Mayer.] 12mo., pp. 14. Windsor Castle. A Poem.

"Of Kings and Queens—of gilded thrones,
The graves' dark gloom and mouldering bones;
Of battlements with banners gay
The listed field, the tourney's play,
And thoughts which to heart belong,
My willing Muse would cease her song."

n. p. pl., or d. 8vo., pp. 84. Frontis. and Title-page extra.

[Exceedingly rare. Only three copies known. This Poem was printed by Mr. Charles Cooper, late Postmaster at Stoke-on-Trent (who retired in 1891, after 42 years' service), when 15 years old, at his uncle's private press—a small one, about two feet square. The uncle, it seems, had employed a printer for some time, but he was so drunken he did very little. Having noticed how he did his work, Mr. C. Cooper, though only a lad at school, volunteered to print it. This he did, a page at a time, in blue ink, within a border, with a woodcut frontispiece. A very few—perhaps a dozen, Mr. Cooper says—copies were printed.]

To the Mayor of Newcastle. [A Poem declining his invitation to Breakfast.] Signed "George Cooper, April 3rd, 1845." [Sm. sheet, 12mo., in borders. Printed at his private press.]

Inscription for a proposed Obelisk on Castle Hill, with note to Joseph Mayer relative to it. Dated 25th Dec., 1847. [Penes Compiler.]

COPELAND (W. T.) & SON, Potters, Stoke-upon-Trent. Originated with William Copeland entering into partnership with Josiah Spode, when the title of the firm was "Spode & Copeland"; next, "Spode, Son, & Copeland"; on the death of the elder Spode becoming again "Spode & Copeland"; the whole concern was purchased by Mr. Copeland in 1833, when he took into partnership Mr. Thomas Garrett, the title then becoming "Copeland & Garrett," and remained so until 1847, when the partnership was dissolved, the title being "W. T. Copeland, late Spode"; in 1867 becoming what it has remained, "W. T. Copeland & Sons."

[Patent Office Index; Jewitt's Ceramic Art; and most of the books on Ceramics touch upon the firm, some giving lengthy accounts; besides which the firm has issued several very fine Catalogues. In the various reports of the several Exhibitions (International and otherwise) copious accounts are given of the exhibits and manufactures of this firm. They are too numerous to quote. DUDLEY. Pedigrees and Notices.

By Cooke (1580). [Penes Marquis of Bath, at Long-leat. (See 3rd Rep. of Hist. MSS., Com. 198.)]

By Glover (1581). [Harl. MS., 6182.]

The Genealogy, Antiquity, Arms, Successions, and Creations of the Ancient Lords and Barons of Dudley Castle, their princely alliances and honourable posterity. Showing how the Barony of Dudley descends to the heirs general by letters patent granted long before the Conquest, and since confirmed by divers Parliaments, when by women the said Manor and Title was brought into several families: First, to Earl Dodo's by an heir female, and from it by an heir female to the noble family of the Beaumonts, ancient Earls of Lester, surnamed Paganell, from whence it came to the Suttons by the marriage of Margaret, daughter and heir of John Paganell, Lord Dudley and Earl of Sommersy, with Sir John Sutton; in whose family it continued until 1643, when the said Barony devolved upon Frances, the wife of Sir Humble Ward, Lord Ward, descended of the ancient family of the Wards of Norfolk, and to their honourable issue for ever; in whose family and surname it hath continued to the present. The aforesaid Frances was daughter and sole heiress of Sir Ferdinando Dudley, son and sole heir to the Right Honourable Edward Sutton, Lord Dudley, Baron of Dudley Castle, in the County of Stafford.

[It would be an unnecessary waste of space to give the innumerable references there are to Harrison to be found in literature. It is sufficient to point out that there are accounts of him and of his trial in all Histories of England, all Histories of Staffordshire; all Lives of Cromwell and his associates; all Lives of Charles I.; and all Histories of the Civil War period. Anyone who is at all curious on the subject can have every taste satisfied, from the most rabid and intense hatred to the most fulsome adulation of this man. Like all individual and strong-minded persons, his motives have never been understood, or, if understood, have been warped to suit the bias of the writer. We conclude with a quotation from Sir J. Macintosh, that Harrison was "the most grossly defamed in his birth, education, and personal character, of all the chiefs of the army and founders of the Commonwealth."—COMPILER.]

An Address to the Students of Oscott College on the Discovery of the Relics of St. Chad at Aston, near Stone. MS.

[These relics were originally in Lichfield Cathedral, where they remained until the Reformation, when Preb. Dudley took them, and entrusted them to two ladies, relatives of the Dudleys, who resided at Russell Hall, Dudley. These, in their turn, gave them in charge of two brothers, Henry and William Hodsdon, of Woodcote, near Sedgley. The portion held by Henry was handed by him, when on his death-bed, to Fr. Marshall, alias Turner, S.J., who wrote an account of how they came into his hands. From this period they were kept in the county, being removed at last to Synnerton Hall, and thence transplanted to Aston. This fact had been lost sight of (although the key of the box containing the case was at Synnerton) until discovered by Fr. Hulme behind the Altar at Aston.]

LICHFIELD PROBATE COURT.

There are in this Court the following original volumes, all in manuscript:—

Indexes.—Consistory Court:—Vol. I., 1526—62 [deficient in letters L, J., K.]; II., 1562—1624; III., 1624—1706; IV., 1729; V., 1730—74; VI., 1775—1825 (A to J); VII., 1775—1825 (K to Z); VIII., 1826—54 (A to J); IX., 1826—54 (K to Z); X., 1854—58; from 1858 the Calendars are in yearly volumes.

These Calendars have been re-copied and re-arranged from 1651, as follows:—Vol. III., 1651—1700; IV., 1701—25; V., 1726—60; VI., 1760—75; VII., 1776—1800; VIII., 1801—40; IX., 1841—60; X., 1861—81; XI., 1882, in use.

Vols. I. and II. are not yet (1891) copied.

The Indexes to the various Peculiar Jurisdictions in Staffordshire are contained in 12 vols.; they are all re-copied in two large volumes, chronologically arranged, one containing A—J, the other K—Z.

The Acts Books relating to the Indexes of the Consistory Court are contained in 15 vols., as follows:—Vol. I., 1532—34; II., 1535—40; III., 1540—43; IV., 1543—49; V., 1549—60; VI., 1560—72; VII., 1572—83; VIII., 1584—91; IX., 1591—99; X., 1599—1606; XI., 1606—12; XII., 1612—18; XIII., 1619—25; XIV., 1625—27; XV., 1635—1836.

There is a gap from 1627—35 of which no explanation can be given. There are no Acts Books between 1658 and their revival in 1858.

There are no Acts Books to the Peculiar Indexes.

There are, properly speaking, only two small vols. of Registered Wills—Vol. I., 1516—26; II., 1528—40.

There are, however, in this Registry, two vols. called the "Black Book," which contain many copies of Wills dated about the middle of the 17th century. No reason can be assigned for there being so few vols. of Registered Wills in this Registry; but from a date much earlier than the commencement of the Indexes to a comparatively late date STAFFORDSHIRE WILLS are to be found registered in the books of the DIOCESAN REGISTRY.

The above Indexes, Acts Books, &c., refer to the whole of the Diocese of Lichfield, under its various designations, and all contain information relating more or less to Staffordshire; but there is no separate vol. in the Registry which is exclusively devoted to Staffordshire matters.

The only books in the Registry are the Modern Acts Books (Records) and copies of Registered Wills for Stafford, and Printed Calendars of Wills and Administrations for the whole of England and Wales since 1858.

MOORE, Ann ("The Fasting Woman of Tutbury"); her maiden name was Pegg. b. Roston, Derbys., circa 1761, being at the time of her pretended fast about 48 years of age. When about 27 years old she m. James Moore, but soon separated from him and lived in service with a person by whom she had two children. She seems to have commenced her fasting on 7th July, 1807, and continued it more or less till 1813. During this period she was visited by hundreds of persons curious to see her, and was the subject of much literary effort [see below]. What became of her after her imposture had been discovered (1813) is not known, except that she was in Macclesfield and in Knutsford Gaol for robbing her lodgings. Doubts having arisen in some minds as to the genuineness of her abstinence, a watch was arranged (including Sir A. Mosley, Bart., Rev. L. Richmond, and Dr. Darwin, amongst others), lasting from 21st April to 4th May, 1813, when she confessed her deception and admitted she had taken nourishment [see Richmond's Statement].

REDDALL, John. b. Aldridge, (baptised 4th Feb.) 1773; s. of Luke Reddall and Elizabeth, his wife; d. March, 1856, at Dallington, Yorks.; bur. in the Mortuary Chapel there.

[His career was remarkable. In early life he went to India, where he made a fortune. Having returned home, we find him, in 1820, at Leamington, where he became acquainted with a Mr. Trotman, and lost his fortune. He went again to India in search of another fortune, but returned without it. On arriving in England he found his friend, Trotman, Vicar of Dallington, and paid him a visit. The Lady of the Manor, the vicar's aunt, was an elderly widow lady; and, on being introduced to her by Mr. Trotman, it occurred to Reddall he might make his home there. In the end he accomplished this by marrying the widow, and became Lord of the Manor, patron of the living, a magistrate of the county, and High Sheriff, circa 1838. At her death his wife left him a life interest in the estate, besides leaving £7,000 to a nephew of Reddall's, who came from Australia to visit his uncle. This nephew, after being educated at Cambridge University, was ordained and for some time was curate of Co-bridge, but, having returned to Australia, he soon afterwards died. After the death of his wife, an aged niece kept home for Reddall until his death.]

Averill, C. H. Bayley, Alan Bagot, The Revs. W. Berresford and F. P. Parker, Messrs. J. W. Duignan, Dr. Garner, M. Hancox, J. Hixsmith, J. Horton, N. Joyce, W. Lloyd, J. Morgan, W. Molyneux, W. J. Pater, F. C. Perry, J. Stubbins, J. C. Tildesley, E. Viles, and F. Whitgreave.]

[Its Objects are said to be:—"Editing and printing of original documents relating to the County of Stafford." Management—"A Council of ten, of whom five shall be trustees of the William Salt Library." Officers—"Treasurer, a Secretary, and an Auditor," "an Assistant Secretary, to be paid at the discretion of the Council." Subscription—"shall be One Guinea annually."]

[Its first Council consisted of the following:—Colonel the Hon. G. Wrottesley, the Revs. R. W. Eyton and F. P. Parker, Colonel Gould Weston, and F. Whitgreave, Esq.; five from the Trustees of the William Salt Library, viz., Lord Wrottesley, Dean Bickersteth, the Hon. and Rev. Canon Bridgeman, H. Sydney Grazebrook, Esq., and W. Molyneux, Esq., together with the Officers.]

[Its first Editorial Committee was:—The Revs. R. W. Eyton and F. P. Parker, H. Sydney Grazebrook, Esq., and F. Whitgreave, Esq.]

The Society has published:—

[They have now reached the 13th Volume, with plates, coats of arms, &c. The early volumes are very rare, and, Vol. III. especially, very valuable.]

SALT (The WILLIAM) LIBRARY, Stafford.

[This Library was formed by the late William Salt, F.S.A., regardless of expense, and with much labour and taste. Every attempt was made by Mr. Salt to render the collection complete, so far as his knowledge, (aided by Thorpe, the Bookseller, and Captain Ferneyhough), of the subject extended. The Library was supposed to contain at the time of his death much of the manuscript and nearly all the printed material relating to the County of Stafford, in the following several departments:—

- (1) Purely Topographical Books, wholly devoted to the County or some portion thereof;
- (2) Ditto, of other Counties, containing references to our County;
- (3) Books, tracts, &c., by natives of the County;
- (4) Ditto, by residents in the County;
- (5) Ditto, by persons taking title from the County;
- (6) Ditto, relating to persons so connected;
- (7) Ditto, printed or published in the County;
- (8) Prints, portraits, engravings, and etchings, so connected.]

[Before the turn over of the Library to the Trustees by the representatives of Mr. Salt, it was catalogued for sale by Messrs. Sotheby, Wilkinson, & Hodge, as follows:—]

A Catalogue of the Extensive and valuable Library of the late William Salt, Esq., F.S.A. n. p., pl., or d. (London, 1868). 8vo., pp. 196, containing 2,309 Lots.

A Catalogue of the Important Collection of Manuscripts, Ancient Deeds, and Autograph Letters . . . 8vo., pp. 72, containing in all 608 Lots.

[Happily it was saved to the County by the liberal-mindedness and thought of the representatives of Mr. Salt, aided by the generosity of some of the old County's sons and daughters, and is now lodged (as before said) at Stafford.

[Since its being located at Stafford, several notices of its contents have appeared, and a small catalogue was compiled and printed, through the favour of the proprietors of the Staffordshire Advertiser, viz.:—]

SIMMS, Rupert. b. Consal Forge, near Ipstones, 31st July, 1853; s. of John Simms (Sims), Brickmaker, and Elizabeth Mellor, his wife; the only education he received was at the National Schools, Wolstanton, Longton, and Silverdale; when nearly nine years old, in Nov., 1862, whilst taking tea to his brother at Daisy Bank Brickyard, Longton, he was drawn into the cog-wheels attached to a machine which made perforated bricks, and lost his left arm and right hand. [It ought to be placed upon permanent record that the yard was owned by Messrs. Adderley, Shaw, & Goldstraw; that the machinery was completely exposed, not having the slightest protection; and last, though not least, the only compensation either himself or his parents obtained was 9d.—6d. being given to him by Rupert Adderley, Esq., and 3d. by — Shaw, Esq.] In April, 1863, his parents removed to Silverdale, where he was sent to the National Sch.; and in the yard attached to the school he first conceived the method by which he writes this article and also the work. When 17 years old he was aided to begin trade as a Tea Dealer, which he exchanged for the more agreeable, but less profitable, business of a Second-hand Bookseller, and at once began to collect (1883) materials for a Bibliography of his native County. On this project, all his energy and money have, for years, been concentrated, he has foregone pleasure and comfort to carry it on; oftentimes himself and family have been put on short commons—in fact, wanting sometimes the necessities of life—so as to save money for the requisite postage and expenses in connection therewith. The work is now nearly completed, but he cannot let this opportunity pass without testifying his great indebtedness to his printer, Mr. A. C. Lomax, of Lichfield, who in the kindest manner undertook to print the book without troubling the Compiler for a penny. He m., 1878, Mary Ellen, dau. of Uriah Reynolds and Harriet Bucknall, his wife—without whose aid and willing acquiescence in all the varied experiences the work has entailed upon himself and family, it would have been a much harder task to perform—in fact, probably an impossibility.

[For the benefit of all who may tread similar paths, and who may be, as he has been, hampered with poverty, the Compiler bespeaks from those able to help with money and information such help as is needed, and not leave them, as he has been left, to struggle on alone, unnoticed, harassed, borne down, at times for want of encouragement, and at other times for want of money. Poverty may not be a crime, yet in its effects upon the individual it is much worse.]

Staffordshire Advertiser (The).

Stafford: J. & C. Mort, Greengate Street. Saturdays. Price 2d.

[The Staffordshire Advertiser was established by Mr. Joshua Drewry, of Lincoln and Stafford. The first number was issued on Saturday, 5th Jan., 1795, and its price at that time was 4d. It was then a small sheet of four pages. The address in which Mr. Drewry introduced his venture to the public manifests a grave and commendable sense of responsibility. After referring to the War with France, destined to last for another twenty years, the first Editor of the Staffordshire Advertiser set forth in the following terms his own immediate objects and principles:—

“If amidst the violence of party resentments the Editor may present to his readers a faithful History of the Times; if he may contribute to soften the animosities of party, support the Reign of Humanity and the Laws, recommend and assist benevolent institutions, plead the cause of the distressed and unfortunate, expose vice and display the charms of virtue, instruct and form the minds of youth, and promote the interests of the artist, the manufacturer, the agriculturalist, and all that support and improve our common country; he will leave to contending factions the disputes which disturb ‘the calm sequestered vale of life,’ and if he is indulged with the candour and support of the public, particularly the inhabitants of the town and county of Stafford, he will think himself honoured and compensated.”

[These few lines faithfully express the aims and sentiments of all succeeding conductors of the Staffordshire Advertiser. Mr. Drewry carried on the Paper until the end of 1825, when his cousin, Charles Chester, Printer, of Newcastle, became the proprietor. Shortly afterwards, Mr. Chester handed over the management to his nephew, the late Charles Chester Mort, to whose ability, energy, discretion, and sound judgment, the subsequent and unbroken success of the Staffordshire Advertiser is mainly to be attributed. On the death of Mr. Chester the Paper passed into the hands of his nephews, Charles Chester Mort and John Drewry Mort. Mr. Charles C. Mort remained Editor and took a leading share in the management until his death in 1857. The management then devolved, for a number of years, upon John Drewry Mort, of Newcastle, and, on his retirement, to Charles Chester Mort, jun., and Frederick Drewry Mort, his brother. This arrangement continued until the death of Mr. C. C. Mort, in 1891, since which time the Paper has been under the sole management of Mr. F. D. Mort, the surviving brother.

[From 1795 to 1825, Mr. Joshua Drewry was his own Editor, excepting during a brief interval, when Mr. James Amphlett (see) had charge of the literary department of the Paper. Mr. C. C. Mort conducted it for more than 30 years, and was succeeded by Mr. Edmund Maybury, chief reporter. On the death of Mr. Maybury, in 1876, Mr. John Law Cherry (see), of Hanley, who joined the staff in 1856 and had been assistant editor for some years, was promoted to the Editorship.

[From 1815 to 1886, every copy of the Paper bore an impressed fourpenny stamp, and the price of the little sheet was 7d. For many years prior to 1835 there was a duty of 3s. 6d. upon every advertisement, large or small; in that year the duty was reduced to 1s. 6d. There was also a heavy excise duty upon paper. In process of time these duties came to be popularly known as the "Taxes on Knowledge." They were almost avowedly repressive, and an association was formed for their repeal. The complete success of its agitation and its consequences in the amazing development of a cheap press are patent to all. After many changes in both size and price, the Staffordshire Advertiser now supplies for 2d. a sheet containing several times the quantity of matter for which, in the days of the excessive duties, our forefathers paid 7d.]

STAFFORDSHIRE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

[Established 1800. This Society has published annually a Report of its proceedings, all—that is, as many as the Compiler has seen—have been printed at one house, viz., High Street, Newcastle, by its several occupants—beginning with J. Smith, Smith & Hyde, W. H. Hyde, Hyde & Crewe, F. Crewe, C. Crewe, C. Hickson, T. Peake, and now (1893) Ellen Peake. Uniformly 12mo.]

STAFFORDSHIRE Archæological and Naturalists' Field Club (The North). Established April, 1865, at the Old Infirmary, East Vale, where a meeting was convened by Dr. Spanton of gentlemen interested in antiquarian pursuits.

Objects.—"The practical Study of Natural History and the cultivation of a fuller knowledge of the antiquities of the neighbourhood." Its first President was James Bateman, Esq., then of Biddulph Grange; Vice-Presidents: Dr. Arlidge, J. E. Davis, Stipendiary of Potteries (since dead), The Rev. S. T. Nevill (now Bp. of Dunedin), Dr. Garner (since dead), and W. S. Roden, Esq. (since dead); Treasurer: Alderman Dickenson, of Stoke; Secretaries: The Rev. T. W. Daltry, M.A., and W. D. Spanton, Esq. Out of 117 names enrolled as members in 1865–66, in 1885 eight-seven were not connected with the Society. The Society has published reports nearly yearly, as follows:—

North Staffordshire Naturalists' Field Club and Archæological Society. Annual Report. . . . 1866. In all 27. (In 1867 no report was issued). All uniformly 8vo. Mostly with plates.

Staffordshire Journal (The Warwick and).

1737–40. [In Birmingham Free Library are Nos. 3–148 (3rd Sept., 1737–12th June, 1840).]

Staffordshire Knot (The).

Established as the Potteries Examiner, 1843: in 1883 becoming The Staffordshire Knot and Potteries Examiner, and latterly The Staffordshire Knot only. Its first Proprietor and Editor as The Staffordshire Knot was Mr. W. Owen; afterwards becoming the property of, and being edited by, Mr. Gould. "Died a natural death from want of supporters," 1892. It was Published on The Crown Bank, Hanley. A daily edition was published for some time.

Staffordshire Mercury (The).

Established 1824. Owned and edited by Jas. Amphlett, and latterly by Mr. W. Allbut and — Kennedy. Died about 1844.

During the Chartist Riots, &c., Mr. Allbut's house—he then resided in the one afterwards occupied by Mr. W. Ridgway, and now, I believe, occupied by Alderman George Ridgway—situated in Northwood, Hanley, was sacked by the people, owing to Mr. Allbut having written rather strongly against their doings.

TANGYE BROS., Engineers, Cornwall Works, Smethwick. Established 1863, by Mr. Richard Tangye [see], Mr. Joseph Tangye, Mr. James Tangye, and Mr. George Tangye. They established the Works for the Manufacture of Gas Engines, Oil Engines, Pumping Machinery, Boilers, Hydraulic Presses, &c., &c. In 1866 they opened a Warehouse in London. They have from time to time taken out numerous Patents, and have issued several Catalogues (the last one is mentioned below). In connection with the Works is a large dining-hall, used for various other purposes besides dining—as Temperance Meetings, and for Sunday School, connected with which is a Lending Library and Savings Bank. There are also Sick Funds, Accident Funds, a Dispensary, with two resident Surgeons and a Dispenser. It is interesting to note that in connection with the removal of "Cleopatra's Needle" to England and its re-erection in London, Tangye's Patent Hydraulic Lifting Jacks were used—4 Jacks, worked by 4 men, being equal to the emergency. Eventually the brothers James and John retired from the Firm—the former to Cornwall, the latter to Bewdley, of which place he is an Alderman. On Dec. 31st, 1881, Tangye Bros. was converted into a Limited Company, consisting of Messrs. Richard and George Tangye, and H. Lincoln and Arthur L. Tangye (sons of Richard Tangye), and Harry and William Tangye (sons of George Tangye), who jointly own nearly all the shares, and are Directors; Mr. Richard Tangye being Chairman, with Mr. George Tangye as Deputy Chairman. The number of people employed by the Firm is about 2,000.

The Harmony of the Three Commissions; or, None but Christ. Wherein is infallibly declared that all Prophets in the Time of the Law, or under the First Commission, and all Apostles and Ministers in the Time of the Gospel, do each of them unanimously agree to their Doctrine concerning God. And that according to the Doctrine of the Third Commission, which Doctrine was in the two first Commissions, and is more fuller in this, being the Commission of the Spirit; namely, that there is None but Christ, None but Christ: no other God but our Lord Jesus Christ, now in Heaven glorified. The first Record evidenced: Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: He shall be called The mighty God, and The everlasting Father.—Isa. ix. 6. The second Record evidenced: Great is the mystery of Godliness: God manifested in Flesh; There are three that bear record in heaven, &c.—1 John v. 7. The third Record evidenced: In the Days of the Voice of the Seventh Angel, when he shall begin to sound, the Mystery of God shall be finished. By Thomas Tomkinson. First written in the year of our Lord God, 1692. Revised and abridged by the Author, and Printed in the year MDCCCLVII. 8vo.

The Muggletonian's Principles Prevailing: Being an Answer in full to a Scandalous and Malitious Pamphlet, intitled A True Representation of the Absurd and Mischievous Principles of the Sect called Muggletonians; Wherein the aforesaid Principles are vindicated, and proved to be infallibly True, And the Author of that Libel, his Scandalous Title and Subject, proved as False to Truth, as Light to Darkness; And that he knows no more what the true God is, nor what the right Devil is, nor any true Principle or Foundation of Faith, for all his great Learning he so much boasts (sic) of, than those Jews that put the Lord of Life to death; For learned and taught Reason is but natural, and so falls short of the Glory of God; as will appear in the following Discourse. By T. T. Printed in the year of our Lord God, 1695. 4to., pp. 80. Reprinted by T. Haywood, Beach Street, Deal. 1822. 4to., pp. 80.

Truth's Triumph, &c. . . . And now Published by some Friends. Part VIII. Printed in the year MDCCXXI. 4to., pp. 24.

Truth's Triumph; or a Witness to the Two Witnesses; from that unfolded Parable of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ, the High and Mighty God, Mathew, chap 13, Verse 30 to 42. . . . Being drawn up into these Eight Heads following; That is to say:

First, Of the True God.	Fifthly, Of the Law's Nature.
Secondly, Of the Two Seeds.	Sixthly, Of the Soul's Mortality.
Thirdly, Of the Right Devil.	Seventhly, Of the Devil's Torments.
Fourthly, Of Predestination.	Eighthly, Of the Saint's Joy.

By Thomas Tomkinson, A Believer and True Lover of the Commission of the Spirit, being written for the benefit of himself and others, who are the Seed of the Son of Man, the Lord Jesus Christ, the High and Mighty God, being both Father, Son, and Spirit, in one Single Person, blessed for ever. Amen. (Heb. 13, 2.) Written in the Year of our Lord God 1676. Transcribed by the Author, with some Alterations, 1690, and Printed by Subscription, 1823. London: Printed by W. Smith, King Street, Long Acre. 1823. 4to., pp. 250.

A Practical Discourse upon the Epistle by Jude. Originally Written by Thomas Tomkinson, Gent. Being a copy of a Manuscript left with Thomas Tomkinson, Jun., his Grandson. Deal: Printed for James May and Joseph Gandon, by J. B. Underdown. 1823. 8vo., pp. 224.

The Mystery of Faith. By Thomas Tomkinson. Copied by Samuel Morris Bailey. May, 1823.

A System of Religion, Singular and Surprising. Treating of the following Heads: I., Of the Nature of God, and that of Jesus Christ, as the only One and True God. II., Of the Trinity, in a Manner wholly differing from either the Athanasians or Arians, nearer to the plain literal Text of the Scriptures, and less liable to Philosophical objections. III., Of the Devil; that he is nowhere to be found, but incarnate in Man. IV., Of the Soul's dying with the Body till the Resurrection, showing the Notion of an immaterial Soul distinct from the Body is an inconceivable Philosophical Absurdity, and against the whole Tenor of the Scriptures. V., Of Predestination. VI., That there are in Man two Principles natural to his Constitution, a good and a bad, which Necessarily Determines his Actions, and are at enmity with each other; and how to know which is predominant. VII., A Philosophical Manner of accounting for the Resurrection. Faithfully Collected from a Curious Manuscript found among the papers of Tho. Tomkinson, Gent. London: Printed in the Year 1729. 8vo., pp. 152. Reprinted by T. Goode, 30, Aylsbury Street, Clerkenwell. 1857. 4to., pp. 132.

WALTON, Alexander. b. Wolverhampton, 1836; s. of James Walton, Esq.; Mat. St. Mary Hall, Ox., 2nd Nov., 1872; B.Mus., 12th June, 1873.

[Foster's Alumni Oxon., IV., 1494.]

WALTON, Francis William. b. Handsworth, 1865; s. of Rev. Daniel Nathaniel Walton; Mat. Keble Coll. Ox., 16th Oct., 1883; B.A., 1887.

[Foster's Alumni Oxon., IV., 1494.]

WALTON, Izaak (or Isaac). b. Stafford, Aug., 1593; very early in life he removed to London, beginning business on the Royal Burse, in Cornhill, built by Sir T. Gresham—"his shop was 7½ feet long by 5 feet wide"; here he stayed till 1624, when "he dwelt on the north side of Fleet Street, in a house two doors west of the end of Chancery Lane, and abutting on a messuage known by the sign of 'The Harrow'"; he was a sempster and milliner; he retired from business 1643; m., probably 1632, Anne, dau. of Thomas Ken, of Furnival's Inn, London, and sister to Bishop Ken, of Bath and Wells; d. Winchester, 15th Dec., 1683.

The Compleat Angler; or, The Contemplative Man's Recreation. Being a discourse of fish and fishing not unworthy the perusal of most anglers. Simon Peter said, I go a fishing; and they said, we also will go with thee.—John 21, 3. London: Printed by T. Moxey for Rich. Marriot, in St. Dunstan's Church-yard, Fleet Street. 1653. 8vo. A—R 3 in eights; or pp. xvi., 246.

[The names of the engravers of the 1st edition are not definitely known; probably Vaughan, Pierre Lombart, and Faithorne were engaged upon it. Whoever may have been the engraver, the plates were used for the first four editions, and were re-engraved in reverse for the 5th. It was published in the beginning of May. In "The Perfect Diurnal," from Monday, May 9, to Monday, May 16, 1652 [1653], we read as follows:—"The Compleat Angler; or, the Contemplative Man's Recreation: being a Discourse of Fish and Fishing not unworthy the perusal of most Anglers, at 18 pence price. Written by Iz. Wa. Also the known play of the Spanish Gipse, never till now published. Both printed for Richard Marriot, to be sold at his shop in St. Dunstan's Church-yard, Fleet Street."

[On p. 1470 of No. 154 of "Mercurius Politicus." . . . From Thursday, May 19, to Thursday, May 26, 1653, we read, "There is newly extant, a Book of 18d. price, called the Compleat Angler, &c."

[As is well known the book is dedicated "To the right worshipful John Offley, of Madeley Manor, in the County of Stafford, Esq., the dedication being signed "Iz. Wa." The Author's name does not appear on any title-page before that of the 1676 edition.]

The Second Edition, much enlarged, John 21, 3: Simon Peter saith unto them, I go a-fishing; they said unto him, We also go with thee. London: Printed by T. M. for Rich. Marriot, and are to be sold at his shop in St. Dunstan's Churchyard, Fleet Street. 1655. 12mo. [Lowndes says 16mo.] A—Q in twelves; or pp. xxiv., 355, i., iii., i. [Lowndes collates as pp. 355, with 12 preliminary leaves and 2 of Contents at the end.]

[The work had been re-written, and four new plates of fish were added. Amongst the Interlocutors Venator takes the place of Viator. There are seven commendatory verses, viz.: one by Jo. Houd, Mr. of Arts—C(h). H(arvie), Mr. of Arts—Tho. Weaver, Mr. of Arts—Edw. Powell, Master of Arts—Alex. Brome—Rob. Floud—and Henry Bayley, Artium Magister.]

Ditto. To which is added the Laws of Angling, and a new table of particulars in this book. The Third Edition, much enlarged. London: Printed by J. G. for Rich. Marriot, &c. 1661. 8vo., A—S in eights; or pp. xvi., 255, i., vii., i., viii.

[In this edition Brome's verses are omitted, and the additions are as stated on title-page. Copy in Chatsworth Library, formerly belonging to Charles II.—with autograph, "Car. Rex," on engraved title.]

Ditto. The Third Edition, much enlarged. London: Printed for R. Marriot, and are to be sold by Simon Gape, near the Inner Temple-Gate, in Fleet-street. 1664. 8vo.

[The 1661 edition with new title-page.]

Ditto. The Fourth Edition, much corrected and enlarged. London: Printed for R. Marriot, and are to be sold by Charles Harper, at his shop the next door to the Crown, near Serjeant's Inn, in Chancery-lane. 1668. 8vo.

[A paginary reprint of the preceding edition.]

The Compleat Angler; or, The Contemplative Man's Recreation. The First Part. Part I.: Being a Discourse of rivers, fish-ponds, fish, and fishing. Written by Izaak Walton. The Fifth Edition, much corrected and enlarged. London: Printed for Richard Marriot. 1676. 8vo. A—V 3 in eights; or pp. xxiv., 275, vii., ii.

[In the first four editions the first sentence was engraved on a scroll, dolphins above and below, and clusters of fish pendant on either side; in this, the fifth edition, this scroll is "worked over," and the words, "The first part," is engraved beneath. Appended to this edition of Walton's were the Works of Cotton (see; in its 1st edition) and of Venables (see; in its 4th edition); and they were issued with the following collective title:—]

The Universal Angler, made so, by three books of fishing. The first by Mr. Izaak Walton; the second by Charles Cotton, Esq.; the third by Col. Robert Venables. All which may be bound together, or sold each of them severally. London: Printed for Richard Marriot, and sold by most booksellers. 1676. 8vo.

[Following the collective title is the title as given above, and to each of the works of Cotton and Venables there is a separate title and pagination. This is the last edition published in the author's lifetime, and contains some verses entitled "Laudatorum carmina," signed "Jaco. Dup., D.D." (i.e., Dr. James Dupont, Professor of Greek to Cambridge University). On several occasions the five first editions have been sold by public auction and have fetched prices ranging from £18 (Haworth's) to £50 (Prince's), and since that sale they have fetched over £100.]

Ditto . . . carefully and correctly published, from the best editions, with a number of occasional notes. By Moses Browne, author of "Piscatory Eclogues" . . . London: Printed and Sold by Henry Kent, at the Printing Office in Finch-lane, near the Royal Exchange. 1750. 12mo., pp. xvi., 312, vii. [Contains a frontispiece by H. Burgh, five separate illustrations, and cuts of fish in the text.]

Ditto. By Moses Browne . . . The Seventh Edition, very much amended and improved . . . London, &c. 1759. 12mo., frontis., pp. xxiv., 216: (pt. 2) frontis., pp. 217—340, viii., and 8 plates.

[In this edition the plates were re-engraved, with four, by Burgh, added, and preface re-written.]

Ditto. To which are now prefixed the Lives of the Authors. Illustrated with cuts of the several kinds of fish, &c. . . . London: Printed only for Thomas Hope, at the Bible and Anchor, opposite the North Gate of the Royal Exchange, Threepenny-lane; and Sold by him and Sackville Parker, at Oxford; Richard Matthews, at Cambridge; and Samuel Trimmer, at Derby. 1760. 8vo., frontis., pp. lvi., xxii., 304, port. (Cotton), pp. xlvii., iv., ii., iv., 128, viii., and 14 plates.

[This edition was edited by John (afterwards Sir John) Hawkins, who wrote the Life of Walton, prefixed; the life of Cotton was written by W. Oldys. The engravings were by Rylands, after Wale, and are dated 1759.]

Ditto. With upwards of thirty copper cuts . . . engraved by Mr. Rylands . . . The Second Edition. London: Printed by J. Rivington, at the Bible and Crown, in St. Paul's Churchyard; J. Caslon, in Stationers' Court; and R. Wethey, in Cornhill. 1766. 8vo.

[The preceding edition with a new title-page; plates inferior to those of the earlier editions. Rylands, the engraver, was afterwards hung for forgery.]

Ditto. By Moses Browne. The eighth edition, with the addition of all the songs set to music. . . . London: Printed and Sold by Richard and Henry Causton (successors to the late Mr. Henry Kent), at the Printing Office, No. 21, Finch Lane, near the Royal Exchange. 1772. 8vo. Frontis., pp. xxiv., 288, i.; frontis., pt. 2, pp. 239—363, VIII., 8 leaves.

[The music was by the Editor; plates same as in 1759 edition. The last edition edited by Browne.]

Ditto. By Sir John Hawkins, Knt. The third edition. London: Printed for John and Francis Rivington (No. 62) at the Bible and Crown, in St. Paul's Church-yard; and T. Caslon, in Stationers' Court. 1775. 8vo. Frontis., pp. lxxvii., 304, portrait of Cotton; pp. xlviii., x., 128, viii., and 14 plates. Ditto: The fourth edition, with large additions. London: same imprint. 1784. 8vo. Frontis., pp. lxxxii., 268; portrait of Cotton, pp. xxxiv., III., x., and 14 plates.

[In this edition the life of Cotton by Oldys is substituted by one written by Hawkins himself; and this edition contains also "An Account of fish taken by a gentleman of Wales from 1753 to 1764," as Appendix; also an "Ecloga piscatoria, a Metastasio, ut dicitur."]

Ditto. By Sir John Hawkins, Knt. The fifth edition, with additions. London: same imprint. 1791. 8vo. Frontis., pp. lxxxii., 268; portrait of Cotton; pp. xxxiv.,

III., x., and 9 plates.

[This edition was edited by John Sidney Hawkins, who only added such corrections and additions as he found in the margin of his father's copy of the last edition.]

Ditto. By Sir John Hawkins, Knt. The fifth edition, with additions. London: Printed for F. & C. Rivington by G. G. J. & J. Robinson, W. Goldsmith, J. & J. Taylor, R. Faulder, Scatcherd & Whitaker, and E. Jefferey. 1792. 8vo.

[The 1791 edition with new title-page, the title to the 2nd part bearing date 1791. Only a very few copies are known of the bond fide 1791 edition, as the issue having become the property of the Booksellers as above, the sheets were bound up and published with title as above.]

Ditto. The sixth edition, with additions. London: same imprint; W. Bent and T. N. Longman added. 1797. 8vo. Frontis., pp. VII., lxxvi., 263; portrait of Cotton; pp. xxxii., III., x., and 3 plates of tackle.

[50 copies on finer paper. This is the last Hawkins edition.]

Ditto. London: Printed for Samuel Bagster, in the Strand. 1808. 8vo. and 4to. Half-title ("The Complete Angler. The seventh edition. With improvements and additions, both of matter and plates"), with woodcut of angler above. Frontis., title, pp. 512, and 14 plates.

[The plates of this edition were re-engraved by Audinet, by whom are also the 17 engravings of fish in the text. In this there are two new views by Mr. Samuel. It is supposed Mr. Bagster, the printer, was also the editor. This edition was printed in three sizes, viz., 8vo., Roy. 8vo., and 4to; the latter being issued at 5 guineas. Owing to a fire which took place at the printer's, copies of this edition are rare.]

Ditto. London: same printer. 1810. 8vo., pp. xviii., 246.

[This is a reprint—but not a fac-simile reprint—of the original edition. Prefixed is a portrait of Walton, engraved by Scott, after Housman. This is now rare, for the same reason as the next above.]

Ditto. By Sir John Hawkins, Knt., and the present editor. London: Printed for Samuel Bagster, in the Strand, by R. Watts, at Broxbourne, on the river Lea, Herts. 1815. 8vo., pp. 514, xx., and 50 plates.

[The "present editor" was Henry (afterwards Sir Henry) Ellis. The engravings of the fish were "a new series." It was published in two sizes—sm. and large 8vo.—and is known as Bagster's second edition.]

Ditto. London: Printed for James Smith, 163, Strand. 1822. 8vo. Frontis., pp. lx., 383, and 15 plates.

[Plates re-engraved, afterwards issued separately, and used also to illustrate Zouch's Life of Walton, produced at the expense of Gordon; has a new Preface, and some copies have "portrait only and no plates."]

Ditto. [To which are added, an introductory essay; the Linnæan arrangement of the various river fish delineated in the work; and illustrative notes. London: John Major, Fleet Street, adjoining Sergeant's Inn. 1823. 8vo. pp. lx., 411; with 14 copper-plates and 77 wood engravings.

[The plates of this edition were engraved by Cook and Pye, from the old drawings by Wale, which had been retouched by Frederick Nash. Its editor was R. Thomson, author of the "Chronicles of London Bridge" (1827); the introductory essay was by Major himself.]

Ditto. London: Maunders. 1824. 8vo.

[No copy of this edition has been found, yet it is mentioned in the "London Catalogue, 1815—32."]

Ditto. Second Edition. London: John Major. 1824. 8vo., pp. lviii., 416; 77 woodcuts and 14 copper plates.

[The copperplates were re-engraved by W. R. Smith; printed in two sizes, sm. and lar. 8vo.; in the latter the plates are proofs. In this edition some verses were inserted, written by the editor, but afterwards suppressed.]

Parliamentary Writs. (Printed.)

WYATT, James. b. Burton, circa 1743; about 1758, accompanied Lord Bagot to Rome; from Rome he went to Venice, where for two years he was pupil to Viscentini, the architect and painter; returned to London, 1763, where he was employed in the Pantheon in Oxford Street; on the death of Sir William Chambers he was appointed Surveyor-General to the Board of Trade; President of Royal Academy; d. Marlborough, 5th Sept., 1813.

[Gent.'s Mag., LXXXIII.; Chalmers's Biog. Dict., XXXII., 340—43.]

WYATT, John. b. Weeford, near Lichfield, April, 1700; worked as Master Carpenter and Inventor for thirty years; invented a machine for cutting files, to supersede hand and hammer work; about 1732 invented a machine for spinning cotton yarn, instead of the old distaff and spindle, the beginning of the great cotton spinning industries; in 1736 removed to Birmingham, where the first yarn spun by machinery was perfected in 1744—a piece of which has been preserved and is now in Birmingham Art Gallery; joined with Lewis Paul, Edward Cave, and others, in a Cotton Mill, at Birmingham, which was worked for some years, but was unsuccessful as the roads were rough and the cost of freight enormous; was afterwards employed by Boulton & Watt, Soho (Staffs.); invented and perfected the "compound lever machine," the first of the modern weighing machines now used, unaltered, and many other inventions; d. 1766, leaving two sons and four daughters; bur. St. Philip's Churchyard, Birmingham, where Boulton, Baskerville, and many other famous men assembled at his graveside. He was a mechanic of rare skill, energy, and perseverance, and left a mass of papers, plans, and inventions, which are now preserved in the Reference Library, Birmingham, having been given by Mrs. Silvester, of Bath, a few years ago. Although he was unsuccessful in many of his ingenious inventions, he was a rare example of ingenuity and skill, and many of his relatives won high honours and marked success.
